This event serves as a platform to showcase Zixin Group's efforts and accomplishments in the upstream and midstream segments of our ecosystem, extending beyond our primary market in China and supported by the newly developed downstream distribution channels in Singapore.

This trade exhibition serves as an essential platform for connecting with global buyers, distributors, and industry partners. Such interactions will not only enhance our visibility in international markets but also foster valuable relationships that can drive future growth. We are excited to explore new opportunities and to share our innovative solutions with a wider audience.”

Some notable developments include:

I. The launch of an official digital platform: www.ilovesweetpotato.com

Zixin Singapore has launched its official digital platform, www.ilovesweetpotato.com, as a software-based infrastructure to facilitate interaction, transactions, and value exchange between users, including customers and business partners. The digital platform is also available on the various social media platforms and prominent e-commerce platforms.

II. Introducing the ‘NutriRootz’ Brand

Zixin Singapore is set to launch its flagship consumer brand, ‘NutriRootz’, which focuses on snacks and food products derived from sweet potatoes. The premier brand aims to transform the consumption of sweet potatoes through the following initiatives:

- promoting functional snacks<sup>1</sup> that are nutrient-dense, serving as nutritious alternatives;
- raising awareness of Zixin Group’s clean label products<sup>2</sup>, which are made exclusively from natural ingredients; and
- utilising innovative formats, including omnichannel marketing strategy, to ensure a seamless and consistent experience across both digital and physical touchpoints, catering to the needs of modern consumers.

For instance, Zixin Group’s midstream processing facilities produce crispy sweet potato chips and fries as well as the steamed sweet potato products, which are categorised under the “NutriRootz Crunch” and “NutriRootz Go” ready-to-eat product segments, respectively.

<sup>1</sup> Functional snacks, like those made of highly concentrated purple sweet potato powder, are meant to offer health benefits beyond just basic nutrition, such as better energy, gut health, or muscle recovery. These items are often fortified with extra protein, fibre, probiotics, vitamins, or minerals that support specific wellness goals while still satisfying hunger. They range from natural whole foods, such as sweet potatoes and sweet potato chips, to modified products created to boost physical performance or mental focus, including protein bars and energy bites that incorporate sweet potato powder.

<sup>2</sup> Clean-label products have short, recognisable ingredient lists free from artificial additives, synthetic chemicals, and GMOs. These foods prioritise minimal processing and transparent sourcing to ensure items are perceived as wholesome and natural. Zixin Group has test reports on some of its sweet potato-based products, but it is still work in progress of detailing the sourcing, processing, and production journey.

On the other hand, the “NutriRootz Raw” segment includes high-quality, traceable, and nutrient-rich fresh produce from the farm to both consumers and businesses.

Zixin Singapore will be introducing the ‘NutriRootz’ brand in Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia, Vietnam, and Mexico over the next six (6) months. This flagship brand will play a central role in Zixin Group’s strategy to build scalable, intellectual property-driven food brands<sup>3</sup> across Southeast Asia and beyond. This approach aims to tap into local tastes while maintaining a cohesive brand identity.

III. Zixin Group’s collaborative brand of crispy sweet potato chips are now available in all outlets of one of the top three supermarket chains in Singapore

Zixin Group’s crispy sweet potato chips, in collaboration and produced for a third-party brand, ‘CoolShow’, are now available in all outlets of one of the top three supermarket chains in Singapore. This expansion into retail outlets marks an important milestone in making a healthier, plant-based snack alternative accessible to a broader range of consumers.

<sup>3</sup> Intellectual property (IP) driven food brands secure market exclusivity and differentiate products through trademarks, patents, and geographical indications.

Mr Liang adds, “Through the utilisation of innovative marketing strategies and strategic alliances, Zixin Group aims to enhance our presence and impact within the competitive food sector. This strategy will augment our brand visibility and cultivate more robust relationships with our consumers and business partners.”

The Company will update shareholders on material developments for the Group as and when they arise.
